

World Environment Day

The World Environment day was celebrated on 5th June 2019 by organizing a plantation programme in collaboration with Forest Department, Govt. of Bihar. About two hundred participants including senior officers and faculty members participated in the programme and planted saplings (made available by the Forest Department) in the campus and adjacent areas. The NSS Unit of College of Fisheries also organized the World Environment Day by planting more than 400 plants provided by the Department of Forest, Government of Bihar at college campus (College building, Residential complex, Farm Area, Boys' and Girls' hostel). Forest Beat Officer was also present during the plantation drive. To make the plantation drive more meaningful and unique, each B. F. Sc. student has adopted five plants for nurturing and care till next 3 years.

World Environment Day Speech: In a sequel to tree plantation programme on the World Environment Day, a speech covering various relevant issues and challenges having implications for the environment was delivered by Dr Ram Kumar, Dean, School of Biological & Environmental Science, Central University of South Bihar, Gaya on 7th June 2019 to enhance the awareness of the university affiliates about the causes and consequences of factors which are concerning for the world with respect to global environment.

Plantation by NCC Cadets of BVC, on the occasion of World Environment Day (5th June 2019)

Dr Ram Kumar, Dean, School of Biological & Environmental Science, Central University of South Bihar receive momentum from Dr P. K. Kapoor, Registrar, BASU on World Environment Day Speech.

Dr Ram Kumar, Dean, School of Biological & Environmental Science, Central University of South Bihar delivered a speech on World Environment Day Speech.